

Katie Logan

Assistant Instructor
Department of Rhetoric and Writing
The University of Texas at Austin
1 University Station, B5500
Austin, TX, 78712
(512) 471-6109
katielogan@utexas.edu

<http://www.drw.utexas.edu> (leave or change to class website if applicable)

Curriculum Vitae

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Student, Comparative Literature, The University of Texas at Austin
M.A., Comparative Literature, The University of Texas at Austin, 2012
B.A., English and Comparative Literature, Columbia University, 2009

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

Assistant Instructor, Department of Rhetoric and Writing, The University of Texas at Austin,
2012– Present

Teaching Assistant, Undergraduate Studies, The University of Texas at Austin, 2010-2012

PUBLICATIONS

“Review: Somaya Sami Sabry’s Arab-American Women’s Writing and Performance: Orientalism, Race and the Idea of the Arabian Nights.” The E3W Review, Spring 2012.

PRESENTATIONS

“Those are Pearls that were his Eyes: Eliot’s Tradition Meets Jabra’s Modernism.” 2012 Jil Jadid Conference: The Graduate Conference in Arabic Literature and Linguistics. Austin, Tx.

“Lawful Lamentation: Structures of Mourning in Greek and Bedouin Cultures.” 2011 Graduate Association for Comparative Literature Students Conference: Reflections: Identity after Crisis. Austin, Tx.

“A City Built by Saturn: Hoda Barakat’s Beirut.” 2011 American Comparative Literature Association Conference: World Literature, Comparative Literature. Vancouver, Canada.

ACTIVITIES/SERVICE

Institute Participant, The Institute for World Literature, Istanbul, Turkey, 2012

Conference Organizer, Graduate Association of Comparative Literature Students, University of Texas-Austin, 2012

Intensive Greek, The CUNY Graduate Center Language Reading Program, New York, NY, 2011